

Greeley Historic Register

The Greeley Historic Register is a list of properties designated as historically, architecturally, and/or geographically significant to Greeley by the Greeley Historic Preservation Commission. The list includes houses, commercial buildings, historic schools, Lincoln Park and Glenmere Park, the No.3 Ditch, the Weld County Garage Sign, Artesian Well #5, churches, POW Camp 202 Stone Gateposts, the Depot, the Downtown Greeley Historic District and the primarily residential Monroe Avenue Historic District. The City Council-appointed Historic Preservation Commission began designating properties in 1996. As of January 2017, the Commission has designated 89 properties on the Register for significance in two of three areas of historical, architectural, and geographical significance. Designated properties are eligible to apply for financial incentives to help fund rehabilitation projects, including the City's Historic Preservation Low Interest Loan program, the State Income Tax Credit for Historic Preservation, and the refund of building permit fees. For more information about these programs and about preservation in Greeley, visit the website at www.greeleygov.com/hp or call the Historic Preservation Office at 970.350.9222.
